

Cake, con't.

the cafeteria, trying to keep it a secret, but no way! I answered a million questions."

When he started the project, which took him 14 days to complete, all Scotty knew was that he had to build a cake that was 20 feet long. The rest was up to him.

After he plotted the sizes of the tiers and the height of the cake, he drew a circle on the cafeteria floor and bent cardboard around the circle for the first layer.

The candles were made by Chuck Szalkay, maintenance, out of two inch plastic tubing. Chuck Mikkelsen, maintenance, assisted Scotty throughout the entire project.

All of the materials will be salvaged when the cake is taken down.

"It's the Scotsman coming out in me," Scotty says with a twinkle in his eye. "I hate to see any kind of waste so we'll save all of the lumber and most everything else from the cake."

Scotty is no rookie when it comes to building towering displays. A few years ago, he built a 10 foot Santa Claus and before that, he fashioned a golf course for the company.

Before joining K mart in 1971, Scotty was a pattern maker for 21 years at GM's Fisher Body, making auto bodies from wood and plastic.

Since Scotty's giant cake was sure to whet the appetites of KIH employees, the personnel department served 32 REAL cakes along with bricks of neopolitan ice cream, lest someone should decide to take a bite of the not-so-real birthday cake.

Golf league tees off

The K mart Golf League has 72 members this year with two on a team. The 36 teams are sectioned into four flights.

Starting this Thursday for the next 18 weeks, the league will meet after work at Sylvan Glen Golf Course to play nine holes.

The following rules have been added this year:

- Women will be teeing off from the women's tee, instead of the men's.

- There is a 10 stroke maximum allowed on any one hole, after which the player must pick up his or her ball and use 10 for the score for that hole.

A rules committee has been formed to help clear up any questions that may arise on the course.
